About the Author, Esther M. Lofton

About the Author: Esther M. Lofton was presented documents proving that institutions of the American people evinced a design, with impunity, to reduce an inner-city youth legally, financially and politically. It would be unconscionable for her not to make this known to the American people for this is not an isolated instance of official wrongdoing. Inner city residents, including herself, lack the representation that protects them from capricious and arbitrary acts, especially from government. Esther lives in the city of Los Angeles with her eldest son, a 30-year employee with the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power (LADWP), now retired minus all retirement benefits, also in the absence of cause.
